Date (of Interaction): 5/12/16 Time (of Interaction 24hrs): 0605 How long did the interaction last: 2 mins Location (of Interaction): Beach near QPWS office driveway Reporting Officer/s details: 7027110	Details of person(s) involved in dingo Interaction. Name: 7027110 Address: Phone #: Visitor type: QPWS employee

Question 1. Detailed report of events.

Ranger 7027110 was going for a walk down the beach with wife. Left the QPWS driveway and walked approx. 20 metres before startled by a dingo approaching from behind. Dingo got within 30 cm of ladies foot before walkers realised and swung around shooing the dingo away.

Dingo continued to circle and test for a response whilst the couple circled and fended off dingo by kicking sand and swinging a piece of poly pipe. At one point the dingo moved to ~40 m away but then returned at a jog to start dominance testing again.

Eventually dingo lost interest and moved off to the south.

CODE: D

Dingo ID: Green tagged male Management Area (NRM use): HP BL

D: Threatening – growling, snarling, dominant towards humans. E: High Risk – nipping, biting, attacking

Date (of Interaction): 23/12/2016 Time (of Interaction 24hrs): 11:30 How long did the interaction last: 5 mins Location (of Interaction): Hook Point Barge Landing Reporting Officer/s details: 7028020	Details of person(s) involved in dingo Interaction. Name: sch 4 - personal information Address: Phone #: sch 4 - personal information Visitor type: Independant

Question 1. Detailed report of events. Report of interaction received on the dingo.ranger e-mail address:

Hello,

We have just gotten on the Barge to go back to Inskip from Fraser Island and there was a male tagged dingo that displayed problematic behaviour (ran towards our car and camper trailer and then also ran towards another woman in a car in front of us who had gotten out of the car).

I know NPSR wanted Fraser Island Visitors to report any negative interactions with dingoes so thought I would email straight away.

Further detail was requested fro sch 4 - pe ia e-mail:

- Could you tell which ear the dingo was tagged in and what colour and/or numbers were on the tag?

The tag was in the left ear and was a light green/light teal colour. I did not see the numbers as I was in front passenger seat and the dingo was on the driver's side.

- Was there just one dingo around?

There was only one dingo that I could tell. He was definitely the only dingo in the sand.

- You said the dingo ran towards your car & camper – were you in the car or out?

We were all in the car. My husband got out of the car approximately 3 minutes beforehand to help one of our friends who was bogged in the sand about 100 metres in front of us. The dingo ran towards our trailer and cane right up to it (our engine was running) and walked right alongside our vehicle as well. It then went back into the bush.

- It then ran towards another woman (out of the car) – what was the women's response? What did the dingo do once I reached the women? Any other behaviour that you noticed from the dingo?

The dingo went back into the bush after being near our car and then less than a minute later came out of the bush running (trotting pace, not a sprint) towards the woman who was out of her car. She stayed still and calm but the dingo continued to approach then its pace got quicker and she quickly walked back to her car as the dingo did look menacing. The dingo continued to approach the woman as well as the car after she closed the door. It then went to the other side of the car where her husband was and he wasn't aware that the dog was there and he walked back to the other side of the car and the dingo followed. He too got quickly into the car. The dingo continued to patrol up and down the beach where our cars were until we were all on barge.

- Did the dingo leave the area or was it still there when you left the area?

It remained in the area until we were on the barge.

Question 1. Detailed report of events. Whilst walking alone along the beach, close to the high tide mark, between Kingfisher Bay Resort and McKenzies Jetty sch 4 - pe observed 2 dingoes in front of her. The untagged juvenile approached sch 4 - pe and started to circle and dominance test (lunging) her, getting within 1m, as she started to back towards the ocean. sch 4 - p tried to deter the dingo (identified from the video supplied as UT16F) by kicking sand towards it, this made the dingo move back slightly but it continued to circle and lunge. The untagged juvenile was then joined by a second juvenile (identified from the video as 16White16F). Both dingoes continued the same behaviour as sch 4 - pe continued backing towards the ocean, kicking sand towards them and squirting water from her water bottle at them.

The dingoes followed sch 4 - p into the ocean where she started kicking water at them, they would jump back slightly but continue to come forward. The dingoes continued to follow sch 4 - pe as she backed into the ocean, getting as deep as their stomachs, before a large splash from Lauren made them jump and run back to the water's edge where they stood watching her.

sch 4 - per stayed in the water and watched as the dingoes moved back up the beach and then exited the water and made her way back to Kingfisher resort.

Question 1. Detailed report of events.

At approximately 1730 on the 11/02/2017 an adult male resort manager arrived at a house at the southern end of Kingfisher Bay Resort and saw two dingoes on the road. After parking in the carport one of the dingoes appeared behind the vehicle and sat down 4-5m away. The manager got out to chase the dingo away so his wife and children could get out and enter the house. As he was doing this another dingo appeared from the opposite direction and approached in an aggressive manner. Both animals were chased and they moved away but they were difficult to deter and were not particularly stressed by the aggressive behaviour towards them.
