Detailed report of events: At approx 0930 was walking down Eli Ck with her children 11yrs and 10yrs. They had entered the creek at the top entry point, the children were floating. As the children progressed down the creek floated close to the southern bank. At this point a dingo jumped from the southern bank into the creek and grabbed by the hair, ran to and screamed at the dingo which released. Two teenaged boys 14yrs and 15yrs were up the creek a short distance away on seeing the incident they ran in and chased the dingo across the creek to the north.

Additional comments and notes: displayed no visible signs of injury the dingo had grabbed him by the hair and her children were unable to identify the animal involved. described the dingo as being tagged in the left ear with a white, red and blue tag. BWR13M was involved in a code D at 0735hrs in the same area.

Action taken: Interview conducted, visitors in area briefed, SR Fraser Island informed, report generated

CODE: E

Dingo ID: Unidentified

Management Area (NRM use): Dund-MJ

D: Threatening – growling, snarling, dominant towards humans. E: High Risk – nipping, biting, attacking

Date (of Interaction): 08/07/2015 Time (of Interaction 24hrs): 09:00 Location (of Interaction): 400m north of McKenzie's Jetty Reporting Officer/s details: 1423322	Details of person(s) involved in dingo Interaction. Question 1. Detailed report of events.

sch4p4(6) Personal information s78B(2) - Privacy were fishing in a tinny 400m north of McKenzie Jetty. At approximately 9am on the 8th July 2015, 6 dingoes were observed approaching a house boat that was beached between low and high tide approximately 30m above the waterline. At least three of these dingoes climbed into a tender that was tied to the houseboat (also beached). It could not be seen if the dingoes accessed anything in the tender. A short time later two other dingoes also approached the house boat. A male and female visitor were then observed walking on the beach. Two of the dingoes saw the people and approached from 200m away at a fast trot. The male person grabbed a stick and they were both walking away from the approaching dingoes, was yelling out not to run and to stay calm. One of the dingoes described as smaller than an adult possibly a sub-adult was lunging at the feet of both the adults. It had its hackles up, head down, snarling and growling this continued for approximately 45 seconds in a very aggressive manner. Another of the adult dingoes was back about 10m observing this behaviour and the rest of the pack was a few hundred meters away still at the house boat and didn't become involved in the interaction. During this time, the male and female pulled up anchor and approached in their tinny making a lot of noise by hitting the side of the boat with the anchor. This distracted the dingoes allowing the female person to wade out in knee deep in water and jump into the boat. She was very upset and in state of panic. The male person was still about 10 meters away. Both the male and female jumped out of the boat and chased the dingoes away up and over the dunes by running at the dingoes and yelling and clapping. The dingoes showed no aggression towards people. No details were available for the adult male and female persons involved in the interaction.

Comments Visitors did not deter dingo when it approached them and touched them. Did not defend themselves aggressively.

Detailed report of events:

Two groups of 3 visitors were walking up Eli Creek upstream from the bridge. They were about half way up when a 'red tagged' dingo jumped off the southern bank towards visitors and started slowly leaping through the water. Dingo went up stream past the groups and then circled back. Two groups combined to a group of six. Dingo swam back to them and went right up to them, sniffing at his shorts and rubbing against his leg. Dingo then went to another visitor before climbing out of northern bank and leaving scene.

Additional comments and notes: Ranger 7027110 did not witness this incident but interviewed 3 people involved 10 minutes after the event. Ranger 7027110 had personally observed and photographed BWR13M at Eli Creek 20 minutes prior to incident.

Action taken: Report generated, Principal Ranger and Regional Director notified

Proposed further action: Maintain high level of ranger presence at Eli Creek from 0700 to 1700 each day. Brief all visitors to the area on dingo safety.

Detailed report of events: The following dingo interaction was reported to rangers at QPWS ranger base, Eurong by [redacted] (6) Personal information did not witness the interaction but members of his camping group did.

At approx. 06:30am an unidentified lady walked towards the beach from Cornwells camping area to go to the toilet.

The lady noticed a dingo (described as small) walking towards her. The lady stood up and walked backwards away from the dingo towards the ocean.

Another dingo appeared from the dunes, then another, then another until a total of 5-6 dingoes (6-7 dingoes were initially reported) were surrounding (circling) her and herding her into the ocean.

Once the lady reached a water depth of chest height, she started to scream for help.

Three male members of s78B(2) - Privacy camping group heard the screams for help and ran down to the beach with sticks and chased the dingoes away.

No identification such as ear tags, dingo gender or photographs were obtained.

Additional comments and notes: The dingo pack regularly seen around the Cornwells camping area would total approx. 5 individuals.

Action taken: Interaction reported, interview conducted and a report generated and circulated.

Proposed further action: Continue monitoring dingoes in the area via trail cameras, ranger briefing's and ranger beach patrols.

Question 1. Detailed report of events. FINAL REPORT - FOLLOW UP TO PRELIMINARY REPORT PRELIMINARY REPORT SUBMITTED 22/01/2015: Initial report passed on at 1355hrs from rangers 7028030 and 7028026. Dingo information form (as carried by Fraser Explorer Tours) detailed that at 1030hrs on Thursday 22nd of January, on Kirrar sandblow a large male and female dingo (tagged, colour on one tag stated as green in right ear – GGG13f) accosted a group of people (3 adults and 4 children) – described as “stalked and attacked group, warded off only through throwing rocks and arming themselves with sticks, extremely aggressive (no growling but possibly snarling), lunging, dominant towards humans and attempting to single out and isolate the children from the adults”. Would like to speak to persons involved to clarify these descriptions of events. Attempted to call man involved at approximately 1400hrs (left message on his messagebank to call Eurong office); reported to FI Senior Ranger at 1415hrs, and NRM 005 Ranger (off island) at 1445hrs. Preliminary report electronically filed. FURTHER INFORMATION OBTAINED THROUGH INTERVIEW OF 1351HRS, 24/1/2015: and his family had been sliding down the sand dunes at Kirrar Sandblow on body boards. The children had been making excited noises (yelling, squealing) during the activity. The group was leaving the sand blow in staggered groups – firstly, another male with the group with his 1 yr old son (50m ahead of the rest of the group), followed by his wife and six year old daughter, and his seven and eight year old daughter trailed at the end. Close to the spring on the sandblow, observed a dingo bolt down from a higher crest to within 1m of his wife and daughter, who started panicking and screaming at this point. He stated that due to his daughter’s initial scream, he thought that the dingo “had got her,” began yelling at the dingo in an attempt to discourage it (unsuccessfully) then described another dingo (as being what he thought was a male with a green coloured tag in its right ear) also ran down at his wife and child from a secondary direction, moved back towards wife and child, and his other two daughters attempted to join them. The behaviour of the dingoes at this time was described as “lunging and snarling with mouths open and tail up” wanted to arm himself with a stick 5m from him, but one of the dingoes tried to prevent him from doing so by standing its ground, continued yelling throughout the entire interaction, was even able to grab the stick and held it above his head in a threatening manner, also grabbed some rocks from the sandblow and, from a distance of 5m, threw them at the dingoes, missing them by ‘about an inch’. The dingoes were reported to have retreated slightly once all of the group members were together. Once the rocks had been thrown at the dingoes, they retreated further and the group were able to cautiously move along the walking track back to their vehicles. On leaving the sand blow area, noticed that the dingoes were moving south around a hill, and the dingoes were not sighted again. described the dingoes as “possibly being a male and a female”, and he described the female as “smaller with a lighter coat colour” and the male as “larger with a darker coat colour.” He was unable to state whether the second dingo had an ear tag nor describe any physical features about either dingo (sock height, tail tip, scarring) other than as stated above. commented that he “had no doubt that the dingoes would’ve attacked the children if adults weren’t present” and also remarked that he was unable to talk for the rest of the day due to a hoarse throat from his yelling attempts. No one involved took any photographs during the interaction.

Question 1. Detailed report of events. Email received via Dingo Ranger from on Tuesday, 3 March 2015 11:24 AM - "On the 1st March 2015 my wife and I were walking down the beach about 200m from our accommodation at Poyungan Rocks where we spotted 1 dingo on the Poyungan Rock bypass track. As we slowly walked backwards 6 more appeared behind it and they came closer and closer. There was 1 main dingo (which was tagged with a red tag) that came right up to us and seemed fearless around us. As this happened the 6 other dingos formed a semi circle around us not allowing us toward the ocean. We kept walking backwards trying to get to our accommodation when the main dingo started to jump forward and nip at us. We didn't have anything in our hands so we yelled at it to get away which seemed useless as he kept jumping forward and trying to nip. We made it to the entrance of the accommodation where all our friends came down to us and the Dingo's ran off. No-one was hurt during this but I was told to let you know about any dingo behaviour of this manner."

was phoned to further discuss the interaction on the 4th March 2015. was not certain of which ear was tagged, he described the tag as a round tag and more of a pink/red colour and the lunging behaviour described by was more consistent with a Code D interaction according to the glossary of terms. also stated that as he approached closer to the accommodation all the dingoes except the pink/red tagged dingo stopped following, however, the main offender continued to follow until their friends came down and the dingo ran off.

Question 1. Detailed report of events. A resort staff member was on the phone, when a small dingo appeared from the bush giving the person a fright. The person stomped their foot at the dingo in an attempt to shoo it away which in turn displayed behavior consistent with dominance testing, approaching closely 2-5m jumping and yapping in an excited manner. The person then phoned another staff member and advised she was being chased by the dingo who advised her to stop running away. When the person followed this advice the dingo stopped following. KBRV informed 005 NRM of interaction via text immediately. Person was interviewed by QPWS the following day. When asked about the interaction the person acknowledged she had overreacted and would ensure she followed the dingo safe messaging provided by QPWS staff in future.

No confirmed breeches found however one gate was found to be not latched due to latch operation and could easily have been opened by a dingo. Kingfisher staff also repaired a possible incursion point on the jetty. Unsuccessful attempt to trap the dingo conducted on the 7/5/2015.

Proposed further action: Continue to liaise with Kingfisher managers and conduct further attempts to trap the dingo within the fenced area at Kingfisher. Further discussions on other possible mitigation measures.

Question 1. Detailed report of events: A person was seen swimming fish on the beach near the water's edge, in front of One Tree Rocks CZ, when 2 dingoes came up within 5 metres behind him. The person entered into the water up to his chest, thinking that this action would deter the dingoes, however it didn't and both dingoes followed into the water to what was estimated to be chest deep. After initially yelling at the dingoes to chase them away, which wasn't effective, the person threw the fish that was in his hand towards the dingoes. The dingoes grabbed the fish thrown from the person and then left. One of the dingo's was seen to have a tag in it's ear, however the person could not identify what the colour was or what ear it was in.

Question 1. Detailed report of events.

Just prior to 8 am 22/05/15 a sub-adult male dingo was observed on the beach in front of Kingfisher Bay Resort. A male and female KBRV employee with another female in plain clothes approached the dingo (15m); it is appeared they were taking photographs. The dingo was then permitted to approach closely, within two meters. At this point no attempt was made to withdraw or discourage the dingo.

The dingo then began to jump from foot to foot in a display of dominance/submissive testing. I approached along the jetty and indicated with hand gestures they should withdraw. It was at this point the group slowly began to make their way back towards the gate. I jumped onto the beach and approached at a fast walking pace, confidently shooing the dingo away. The dingo retreated immediately.

I told the group they could not do that. The male person said 'we didn't do anything wrong.'

I said 'You cannot allow dingoes to approach you like that, you need to withdraw. You need to withdraw before it gets to that point. You are creating a dangerous situation and it puts other park users at risk.'

The female Kingfisher Resort Ranger said the dingo had started growling. I told them they need to withdraw from the dingo and they began to move back towards the fenced area. Approximately 20 people were in the vicinity of the jetty at the time. I intervened as this was not a good example for visitors to the island, advice is provided to watch dingoes from a safe distance.

Question 1. Detailed report of events and three other backpackers travelled to Fraser Island by barge and hiked up the east coast to One Tree Rocks Camping area on the 2nd June. As the group had no vehicle or food box they had been storing their food inside the tent. The group obtained a brochure in Rainbow beach and were aware of the dingo safe information. All food was kept in sealed unopened bags and tins. The group thought this would be sufficient to prevent attracting dingoes. In the early morning of June 3rd a dingo ripped into the tent while the group of four were sleeping. One of the group heard the dingo and scared it off by hitting the side of the tent. The dingo took an empty biscuit packet that was left in the annex part of the tent the night before; a small neat rip (40cm) was located in the screen. Code C_20150603_Unidentified_Eur-Poy_Tent ripping - 3rd June 2015 the group left the camp area at about 18:00 and returned around mid-night to find the tent ripped again. 1 meter long rip in the tent fly and another rip of 40cm in the screen. Tinned food, 2 minute noodles and a packet of pasta was left in the tent in unopened sealed bags. The dingo had stolen the noodles and ripped open one packet, this was picked up outside the tent and very little dry noodle appeared to have been eaten.

Question 1. Detailed report of events. Ranger 7028020 was on the beach in front of KBRV when they observed a group of four walkers approx. 600m south being followed and dominance tested (bouncing, crouching down, circling) by a dingo.

Ranger 7028020 observed for a couple of minutes and notice that two of the group has sticks with them and were actively deterring the dingo. Ranger 7028020 noticed that there were two dingoes present and made a decision to walk towards the group to make sure everything was ok.

QPWS ranger met the group about 400m south of the jetty and introduced themselves and asked if everything was ok.

Two of the group indicated that the had been walking south towards McKenzie's Jetty when they noticed two sets of dingo prints, but no dingoes were observed. Approx 200m further south they noticed that two dingoes had appeared on the beach and were moving towards them. The dingoes approached and the tagged female dingo (13Red14f) approached to within 1m and started to growl and bounce around (dominance testing). The male dingo (UT14m) was in the area but did not get closer than about 5m.

The female dingo was chased away and the couple decided to turn around and head back towards the resort. The two dingoes continued to follow with the female continuing to dominance test the pair at intervals and the male staying close but not displaying the same behaviour.

A second pair of visitors had been walking towards McKenzie's Jetty when they came across the first couple, and after a brief discussion, all four visitors decided to continue back towards the resort. The two dingoes continued to follow the group.

The group told ranger 7028020 that the dingoes had been following them for about 1.5km.

In the time that the QPWS ranger was with the group 13Red14f did not show any dominance testing behaviours, but circled the group within 2m. UT14m was more wary, only coming within 5m, before shying away.

As 7028020 walked the group back towards the resort it was observed that 13Red14f approached two visitors who were lying down in the sand towards the top of the beach. The two visitors saw her coming and both stood up with their arms crossed. 13Red14f stood watching the pair about 10m away for a minute, with tail curled up, before sitting down and howling once. Ranger 7028020 moved towards the pair to try and deter 13Red14f by yelling and clapping. The dingo moved away north along the beach catching up with UT14m.

Question 1. Detailed report of events.

sch4p4(6) Personal information entered the eastern beach at the Dilli Village access around 7:30am, Wednesday 15 July 2015. On entering the beach access they passed two fishermen parked up for the night and continued walking south for around 1km along the beach.

Turning back to see how far they had walked, two dingoes were observed coming toward them. sch4p4(6) Personal information stayed still and waited for the dingoes to pass.

The dingoes circled as sch4p4(6) Personal information stood together, yelled and told the dingoes to go away, then took off his boot and used it to frighten them away. The older male dingo with the neck tracker stayed with its hackles up and the smaller dingo followed suit. The couple stated they were kept bailed up by the two dingoes for around 5 minutes and the dingo with the collar was growling and snarling, lunging and circling at a distance of 1 metre. sch4p4(6) Personal information said that the smaller dingo was back about 3m and not showing the same behaviour, but it appeared as though the larger dingo (PuGY14m) was teaching the other dingo.

sch4p4(6) Personal information described the dingo with the GPS collar as very persistent, showing no fear and being not easily deterred.

They were able to leave the situation very slowly by calmly beginning to ignore the older dog and walking very slowly north again toward Dilli Village. The dingoes followed for around 100 metres and kept sch4p4(6) Personal information in their sight until they were back at the Dilli Village access. One dingo was identified from photographs taken by sch4p4(6) Personal information at the time of the incident as PuGY14m.

Question 1. Detailed report of events.

sch4p4(6) Personal information entered the eastern beach at the Dilli Village access around 7:30am, Wednesday 15 July 2015. On entering the beach access they passed two fishermen parked up for the night and continued walking south for around 1km along the beach.

Turning back to see how far they had walked, two dingoes were observed coming toward them. sch4p4(6) Personal information stayed still and waited for the dingoes to pass.

The dingoes circled as sch4p4(6) Personal information stood together. sch4p4(6) Personal information yelled and told the dingoes to go away, then took off his boot and used it to frighten them away. The older male dingo with the neck tracker stayed with its hackles up and the smaller dingo followed suit. The couple stated they were kept bailed up by the two dingoes for around 5 minutes and the dingo with the collar was growling and snarling, lunging and circling at a distance of 1 metre. sch4p4(6) Personal information said that the smaller dingo was back about 3m and not showing the same behaviour, but it appeared as though the larger dingo (PuGY14m) was teaching the other dingo.

sch4p4(6) Personal information described the dingo with the GPS collar as very persistent, showing no fear and being not easily deterred. They were able to leave the situation very slowly by calmly beginning to ignore the older dog and walking very slowly north again toward Dilli Village. The dingoes followed for around 100 metres and kept sch4p4(6) Personal information in their sight until they were back at the Dilli Village access. Question 1. Detailed report of events. Whilst on patrol ranger 7028020 stopped to identify a dingo observed sitting at the edge of the dunes. The vehicle was stopped approx. 20m from the dingo and the ranger was taking photos to identify the dingo when it started approaching the vehicle.

Once the dingo got to the vehicle (right outside driver's side window) it lunged forward into a crouch and started to vocalise before standing up and repeating a couple of times. At this point the ranger banged on the side of the car and yelled at the dingo. The dingo backed away slightly and moved around towards the rear of the vehicle before heading south up the beach.

Ranger 7028020 watched the dingo move off up the beach, stopping to pounce on a washed up coconut and chase some birds, for about 500m before starting to drive north back towards Eurong.

The vehicle soon came up close to the dingo that was standing still at the base of the dunes. As the vehicle came within 10m the dingo ran at full speed from the dunes towards the vehicle causing the ranger to stop the vehicle to ensure the dingo wasn't struck. The dingo sat in front of the vehicle until the horn was suddenly sounded when he then moved towards the rear of the vehicle.

As soon as the dingo was in a position to allow the vehicle to start moving again Ranger 7028020 started to drive at which point 09Blue14m started to chase the car. He chased the car, travelling at a speed of 30-40km/hr, for about 300m before being distracted and moving off into the dunes.

Detailed report of events: A local resident reported that she observed and photographed (attached) a dingo eating steak on the beach between Dilli Village and Hook point bend (closer to Hook Point). She took the photographs from her vehicle situated ~15-20 metres way. The dingo did not approach her vehicle and concentrated on the food.

There was nobody else around.

She reported that some time before on that day, she had observed a white canopy-backed vehicle in the vicinity with a middle aged male and female near it.

The couple were not fishing and looked to act coyly as the observer passed.

Additional comments and notes: Alleged feeding,
No obvious sign of meat tray or packaging to suggest the dingo stole this from a camping area and the meat was clean without sand suggesting it could have been 'accidentally' dropped or left in the vicinity.

Monitoring of this area would need to occur to determine if regular activity is taking place.
The new code C report does not currently have facility for photographs.

Action taken: Interaction reported.

Did they read the Dingo Brochure click to select

Did the people follow 'dingo safe' messaging? (Ranger to assess) No

Comments Inappropriate actions towards dingoes based on report only.

Detailed report of events: QPWS received an emailed complaint below with photographs (attached).

"Late yesterday afternoon Tuesday 13th January approx 6.00pm whilst on my way home with friends from the mainland I witnessed an incident involving dingoes. Two dingoes, a female and pup were on the beach near Lake Wabby. Both were at first eating what looked like a coconut. They were sitting on the sand being dogs until a Drop Bear 4 wheel drive convoy came up and corralled them.

The dingoes sat on the beach watching them, until the leader of the convoy got out of his vehicle and started taking photos of them then walked around to the other vehicles.

This of course encouraged the younger dog to go up and approach this man. The dingoes also were unable to continue in the path they were going due to the convoy of vehicles. Fortunately in the end the young dingo went back to the older one, and the convoy then drove off."

Additional comments and notes: sch4p4(6) Personal information advised that most of the actions of the CTO were not captured on camera.

Action taken: Interaction reported and forwarded to senior management for relevant action.

Proposed further action: Senior management to determine. Operational staff continue opportunistic liaison with CTO operators regarding dingo-safe practices.

Question 1: Detailed report of events. Ranger was tasked with some duties at Kirrar sandblow. Within 5 minutes of arrival Ranger noticed the presence of a tagged male dingo whose attention was focussed on the Ranger (walked towards then sat down on adjacent dune – within 4m). Minutes later, the dingo was joined by tagged female dingo (GGG13f) and they both continued to observe the Ranger preparing for chainsaw work. The female then disappeared into the bush. The male dingo urinated near the walking track entrance and then moved up the walking track. Ranger encountered tagged male again within 5 minutes along the walking track. Male dingo would not move off the track (tail was raised during entire observation of him). Ranger started the chainsaw within 20m of the dingo, thinking that this may discourage his attention – this failed until the Ranger was within 15m of the dingo, at which time the dingo bolted off along the track. Question 1: Detailed report of events. Email enquiry - 10/02/15; Last night our tent got torn up by dingos on the front beach? Who do we contact? Reply - 11/02/15; Thank-you for reporting the tent rip on Fraser Island. Additional information would be appreciated so Rangers can fully inform campers in the area on how to reduce the chances of this occurring or in some cases we will close that particular camp area for a short time am happy to call at a time that suits you or alternately you can contact me on one of the numbers listed below. If you wish for a phone call please forward a preferred contact number and time. Email - 17/02/15; FYI, 2 dingos at the Red Canyon area, were extremely annoying. Tore the side out of the tent and dragged pillows and bedding out, they also chewed on the esky lid trying to open it. We had to relocate to get rid of them and luckily had another tent to be able to use or the holiday was totally ruined. Reply - 17/02/15; Hi, Thanks for the information. You were most likely at the Wyuna camping area just north of Red Canyon, I will inform the rangers that patrol this area. If you have any photographs of the dingoes responsible or even a description (age, gender, if you noticed a coloured ear tag) that would be helpful. Other than the dingoes damaging your property I hope your holiday was enjoyable. If you decide to visit again we have some great fenced camping areas where this won't be an issue. 02/03/15 - No further information supplied.

Question 1: Detailed report of events. at Eurong Resort) rang NRM Ranger at 11:45am on Friday the 9th of April to say that a young male dingo with a blue tag in it's left ear had been walking inside the fenced area for most of the morning. It appeared to be curious and unperturbed by the crowd and walked around the township without showing any aggression towards people. [redacted] saw an opportunity to chase it through the grid when walking around the main eastern grid near the shops. Soon after receiving the call from [redacted] - Rangers drove over to the eastern and western grids with the kubota to scrap away and dig out the sand that had built up. There were also a few grid wires that had broke, so they were also replaced immediately. Question 1: Personal information and where other backpackers travelled to Fraser Island by barge and hiked up the east coast to One Tree Rocks Camping area on the 2nd June. As the group had no vehicle or food box they had been storing their food inside the tent. The group obtained a brochure in Rainbow beach and were aware of the dingo safe information. All food was kept in sealed unopened bags and tins. The group thought this would be sufficient. In the early morning of June 3rd a dingo ripped into the tent while the group of four were sleeping (see Code D 20150603_Unidentified_Eur-Poy_Tent rip). One of the group heard the dingo and scared it off by hitting the side of the tent. The dingo took an empty biscuit packet that was left in the annex part of the tent the night before; a small neat rip (40cm) was located in the screen. 3rd June 2015 the group left the camp area at about 18:00 and returned around mid-night to find the tent ripped again. 1 meter long rip in the tent fly and another rip of 40cm in the screen. Tinned food, 2 minute noodles and a packet of pasta was left in the tent in unopened sealed bags. The dingo had stolen the noodles and ripped open one packet, this was picked up outside the tent and very little dry noodle appeared to have been eaten.

Name: QPS officer (2) - P.A. (2) Personal information Address: c/o Eurong police station Phone #: 4127 9155 Visitor type: Resident Question 1: Detailed report of events. QPS officer (2) - P.A. (2) approached myself in the office car park area shortly after 7am to ascertain whether or not we had located a bag of used random breath testing tubes, which had been stolen by an unidentified dingo who then ran onto the dunes with it. The bag had been sitting on the ground near the police vehicle whilst they were conducting the random breath tests, and the bag contained tubes and also a small amount of lunch rubbish/packaging, including two empty tuna cans from the previous day's work. Other QPS staff member (2) - P.A. (2) was scouting through the foredunes in an attempt to locate the stolen bag. Immediately following this conversation with (2) - P.A. (2) I sighted a dingo behind the Telstra tower, and was able to establish that it was PuGY14m through his tag colours in his left ear (at the time he also had a blade of grass or similar protruding from his ear tag). He trotted off when I was within 10m of him. The bag was not located, but it is possible that PuGY14m was responsible for its theft.
