Subject : Fig tree pocket clearing - Urgent

Attachment : image001.png;image002.png;image003.jpg;

Hi Frank,

We have had a lot of correspondence (briefing notes and calls for proponents) regarding a development at Fig Tree Pocket (229-233 Jesmond Road, Fig Tree Pocket).

There is prospective land clearing and also impacts on animal breeding places.

Are you able to wrangle a compliance team to go out and check it out? Is there someone perhaps from Moggill?

Kind Regards

Hi team,

As discussed with Frank please find attached corro that will go out this week regarding proposed development at fig tree pocket.

My telephone conversation with Campbell Walker (a resident in the area) reflected this brief note.

Frank has kindly put this in the compliance tracker.

Mr Michael Berkman MP
Member for Maiwar
PO Box 423

Dear Mr Berkman

Thank you for your letter of 10 October 2018, regarding the development approval for the subdivision of land situated at 229 – 233 Jesmond Road, Fig Tree Pocket.

The land described as Lot 7 on RP 806355 was zoned as an emerging community area in City Plan 2014 signalling the intent to intensify the use of the land for urban purposes. Brisbane City Council issued development approval A004078868 on 26 November 2015 to allow five dwellings to be developed subject to a number of conditions. Any vegetation clearing must be in accordance with the conditions of the approval.

In Queensland, all plants that are native to Australia are regarded as 'protected plants' under the Nature Conservation Act 1992 (the Act). A flora survey trigger map identifies high-risk areas where individual plant species that are endangered, vulnerable or near threatened (EVNT) are present or are likely to be present. Before any clearing can commence, a copy of the flora survey trigger map must be obtained to determine whether any part of the clearing area is within a high-risk area. If this trigger map does not identify a high risk area, then a protected clearing permit is not required. If a flora survey conducted by a suitably qualified person does not find any EVNT plants within the proposed clearing impact area or the clearing is more than 100 metres from protected plants then a clearing permit is not required and the proponent may apply for an exemption.

The Department of Environment and Science (the department) has undertaken a flora survey search (Enclosure 1), showing that the subject's property is within a high-risk area. The proponent must therefore undertake a flora survey of the clearing impact area prior to any potential clearing. This is irrespective of the classification of the vegetation under the Vegetation Management Act 1999. The flora survey must comply with all requirements under the department's flora survey guidelines (Enclosure 2). This flora survey guideline shows how a flora survey must be conducted in order to comply with the department's protected plants framework. This framework stipulates:

1. Who is suitably qualified to undertake a flora survey;
2. The extent of the area that must be surveyed;
3. What flora survey methods must be used; and
4. What must be included in a flora survey report.

In addition to the requirements of a protected plant clearing permit, the Nature Conservation (Wildlife management) Regulation 2006, prohibits tampering with a native animal breeding place except under conditions approved through a species management program (SMP). The department can issue either a "low risk" or "high risk" SMP. A low risk SMP relates to protected animals that are classed as least concern where the impacts are unlikely to affect the broader population of a species. A high risk SMP encompasses species that are at a greater risk from a planned activity and include least concern wildlife that are colonial breeders, and wildlife prescribed as extinct in the wild, endangered, vulnerable, near threatened, or a special least concern animal under the departments legislation. The department has attached an information sheet on SMPs (Enclosure 3). The purpose of an SMP is to:

1. Assess the threats to native animal breeding places resulting from a planned activity;
2. Incorporate management actions that will avoid or minimise both the immediate and long term impact(s) of removing or altering an animal breeding place; and
3. Set monitoring and reporting requirements that demonstrate the management actions in the SMP to ensure that they are effectively implemented and produce the intended results.

I thank you once again for your letter. If you require any further information, please contact Dr Geoff Lundie-Jenkins, Acting Director Southern Wildlife Operations of the Department of Environment and Science by email at Geoff.Lundie-Jenkins@des.qld.gov.au or on telephone (07) 3330 5331.

Yours sincerely

Hi Pia,

As per our conversation on the phone this afternoon, we are urgently asking that the Environment Department intervene to protect urban native bushland at 229, 231 and 233 Jesmond Road in Fig Tree Pocket (A004078868). Michael Berkman wrote to Minister Enoch about this on 10 October. This development should never have been approved by the Brisbane City Council as it is in an area of sensitive flora and fauna and overlay maps show that it needs to be protected. The residents are very worried as the bulldozers are coming in any day now. Can you let us know what stage it's at and whether the state government are able to intervene?

We understand your officer Sam Dawe (?) has been in touch with one of the local residents.

Hi Pia,

As per our conversation on the phone this afternoon, we are urgently asking that the Environment Department intervene to protect urban native bushland at 229, 231 and 233 Jesmond Road in Fig Tree Pocket (A004078868). Michael Berkman wrote to Minister Enoch about this on 10 October. This development should never have been approved by the Brisbane City Council as it is in an area of sensitive flora and fauna and overlay maps show that it needs to be protected. The residents are very worried as the bulldozers are coming in any day now. Can you let us know what stage it's at and whether the state government are able to intervene?

We understand your officer Sam Dawe (?) has been in touch with one of the local residents.

As the matter is urgent, can you please call my colleague John Meyer on his mobile 4(6) Personal Inform

Hi Pia,

As per our conversation on the phone this afternoon, we are urgently asking that the Environment Department intervene to protect urban native bushland at 229, 231 and 233 Jesmond Road in Fig Tree Pocket (A004078868). Michael Berkman wrote to Minister Enoch about this on 10 October. This development should never have been approved by the Brisbane City Council as it is in an area of sensitive flora and fauna and overlay maps show that it needs to be protected. The residents are very worried as the bulldozers are coming in any day now. Can you let us know what stage it's at and whether the state government are able to intervene?

We understand your officer Sam Dawe (?) has been in touch with one of the local residents.

As the matter is urgent, can you please call my colleague John Meyer on his mobile 4(6) Personal Infor

Hi Ang,
AS discussed, I would like to get this enquiry redirected to the DLO/s. We have been asked to ring the Assistant Electorate Officer for Michael Berkman MP about an issue they have already raised with our Minister. It would be inappropriate for us to ring the electoral office directly. I believe the response from the Minister has not yet been sent to Michael Berkman.

For your information the following MECS items are about the same issue:
30216/18
30054/18 – this is the one re the letter from Michael Berkman MP
