1. Given the committee is meeting again this week in the wake of the deaths, has it met its female quota? If so, when did it meet its target and who were the women who were placed onto the committee?
2. Why haven't any documents been uploaded to this site since February 2018?

3. Who exactly will be attending the safety forum tomorrow? Does the Minister have a list of the companies who have registered their interest?
4. The Deputy Premier this morning said she was open to a 24hour stop work following suggestions by the CFMEU. Is the Minister also open to the idea?

PROPOSED RESPONSE

As I have said before, the health and safety of our mine and quarry workers is paramount and the current rate of fatal incidents is unacceptable.

As part of the comprehensive response to this, senior executives and representatives of mining companies, unions and peak bodies are being invited today to attend a safety forum tomorrow to decide their short-term and longer term actions to improve onsite safety.

One of the initiatives to be discussed by stakeholders at the forum is a safety reset and I will be guided by the views of forum attendees from industry and unions.

I continue to receive advice from the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee and the Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee. Membership of both is available online.

Statement by Dr Lynham

Around 70 people will gather at Parliament House tomorrow to identify immediate and longer-term measures to improve safety and health for the state's 49,000 mining and quarrying workers.

Senior executives of Queensland mining companies, mining unions, and the industry's peak body, the Queensland Resources Council, will join the state's independent Mines Safety and Health Commissioner, the Chief Inspector of Mines and me.

I will be looking to the forum to discuss and decide:

- operational details of a statewide "safety reset" at all mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workplace
- longer-term industry initiatives
- action required by the state's regulator or government.

This forum is an integral part of the tripartite response from industry, unions and government to the unacceptable rate of fatal incidents.

ABC

QUESTIONS

- When did committee last meet?
- When is it next going to meet?
- Why didn't it meet in June?
- Have there been any issues with not having enough women on the board?
- Who is currently on the committee (can I please have a list of the people?)
- With the meeting this week, is there a 50/50 gender split of people on the committee?
- Why did the Minister say the group was being re-established – if it was always operational?
- Why did the Minister says there were issues with gender representations, when asked about why the group wasn't meeting – if that wasn't the case?

PROPOSED RESPONSE

As I have said before, the health and safety of our mine and quarry workers is paramount and the current rate of fatal incidents is unacceptable.

Tomorrow senior executives of Queensland mining companies, mining unions, and the industry's peak body, the Queensland Resources Council, will join the state's independent Mines Safety and Health Commissioner, the Chief Inspector of Mines and me at a safety forum.

I will be looking to the forum to discuss and decide:

- operational details of a statewide "safety reset" at all mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workplace
- longer-term industry initiatives
- action required by the state's regulator or government.

I will be guided by the views of forum attendees as to the operational details of the statewide "safety reset".

This forum is an integral part of the tripartite response from industry, unions and government to the unacceptable rate of fatal incidents.

I continue to receive advice from the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee (CMSHAC) and the Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee.

CMSHAC is required by legislation to meet twice yearly and in the past financial year it has met in September, December and March, by teleconference in January, and will meet again this week.

The members decide their meeting schedule.

MINE SAFETY

The health and safety of our 49,000 mine and quarry workers is paramount for the Palaszczuk Government.

It is totally unacceptable that we have had six fatalities over the past 12 months.

Two independent reviews are already underway and due to report to Minister Lynham by the end of the year.

Today (Wednesday) industry and union leaders will gather at Parliament with the Minister to identify measures to improve safety on these workplaces.

I understand that one of the measures to be raised will be a statewide “safety reset” at mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workplace.

This is industry, unions and government working together to keep workers safe.

Two mining safety and health advisory committees will also meet later this week in the wake of the fatalities.

On membership of the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee:

Our government is committed to getting more women on boards but health and safety always comes first.

Background

- Media is expected to continue to report on mine safety issues and gender balance in the Coal Mining Safety Advisory Committee (CMSHAC).
- The members of CMSHAC have been advised that they will receive appointment letters ahead of their meeting this week.

As I have said before, the health and safety of our mine and quarry workers is paramount and the current rate of fatal incidents is unacceptable.

As part of the comprehensive response to this, senior executives and representatives of mining companies, unions and peak bodies have been invited today to attend a safety forum tomorrow to decide their short-term and longer term actions to improve onsite safety.

One of the initiatives to be discussed by stakeholders at the forum is a safety reset and I will be guided by the views of forum attendees from industry and unions.

I continue to receive advice from the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee and the Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee. Membership of both is available online.

I'm writing to confirm whether or not the June meeting of the Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee was cancelled because there wasn't suitable gender representation on the committee.

PROPOSED RESPONSE

The Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee met most recently in June.

The Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee met most recently in March.

Both meet tomorrow as part of the government, industry and union response to the unacceptable rate of fatal and serious incidents in our mines and quarries.

The committees are required to meet twice yearly. Members set their own meeting schedules.

QUESTIONS

1. Given the committee is meeting again this week in the wake of the deaths, has it met its female quota? If so, when did it meet its target and who were the women who were placed onto the committee?

I have seen the names on the website - so has the committee met its female quota? I can see 3 female names. And when were they placed onto the committee?

PROPOSED RESPONSE

Ms Bobbie Foot is a new appointee and Ms Kylie Ah Wong is a new substitute member. Both were nominated by the Queensland Resources Council.

Kate du Preez was an existing member as the Commissioner.

The committee members have been advised that they will receive their appointment letters before their meeting later this week.

Our government is committed to getting more women on boards but health and safety always comes first.

QUESTIONS

- When did committee last meet?
- When is it next going to meet?
- Why didn't it meet in June?
- Have there been any issues with not having enough women on the board?
- Who is currently on the committee (can I please have a list of the people?)
- With the meeting this week, is there a 50/50 gender split of people on the committee?
- Why did the Minister say the group was being re-established – if it was always operational?
- Why did the Minister says there were issues with gender representations, when asked about why the group wasn't meeting – if that wasn't the case?

PROPOSED RESPONSE

As I have said before, the health and safety of our mine and quarry workers is paramount and the current rate of fatal incidents is unacceptable.

Tomorrow senior executives of Queensland mining companies, mining unions, and the industry's peak body, the Queensland Resources Council, will join the state's independent Mines Safety and Health Commissioner, the Chief Inspector of Mines and me at a safety forum.

I will be looking to the forum to discuss and decide:

- operational details of a statewide "safety reset" at all mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workplace
- longer-term industry initiatives
- action required by the state's regulator or government.

I will be guided by the views of forum attendees as to the operational details of the statewide "safety reset".

This forum is an integral part of the tripartite response from industry, unions and government to the unacceptable rate of fatal incidents.

I continue to receive advice from the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee (CMSHAC) and the Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee.

CMSHAC is required by legislation to meet twice yearly and in the past financial year it has met in September, December and March, by teleconference in January, and will meet again this week.

The members decide their meeting schedule.

Statement from Mines Minister Dr Anthony Lynham

Two expert independent reviews are now underway to identify changes needed to improve health and safety in the state's mines and quarries.

Forensic structural engineer Dr Sean Brady is examining all fatal incidents in Queensland mines and quarries since 2000.

I have broadened this review. It was originally coal mine incidents only to the end of 2018, but will now include mineral mine and quarry incidents, and all fatal incidents this year.

This review will look at why mine workers have died over the past 20 years; how industry can improve and how the mines inspectorate can work better.

Separately, the University of Queensland is reviewing the state's mining health and safety legislation to ensure it is relevant to current and emerging mine practice and technology.

The UQ team will consult with industry, unions, mines inspectors and legal experts during the review.

The reviews received the full support of industry representatives at this afternoon's meeting.

They will both be completed by the end of this year and will be tabled in Parliament.

A couple of thoughts

Mines Safety Forum
Parliament House, 10/07/19
Opening speech, Dr Anthony Lynham
Minister for Natural Resources, Mines and Energy

Good afternoon,

Your presence here today shows how seriously you treat health and safety in your industry.

It has taken on even greater importance given the tragic events of recent days and months.

Six deaths in the mining and quarrying industries is an not acceptable.

Commented [GB1]: An appalling loss of life

Together, we must do everything that we can to put an end to the heartbreak that has struck our families, friends and colleagues of our industry.

But today is about you. What you can do as the leaders of this industry, company CEOs, union representatives and regulators, to work together.

It is a time to put aside any acrimony - to work closely, side-by-side for the good of the mining and quarrying industries.

But most importantly for the safety and well-being of your workers.

The greatest resource of the mining and quarrying industries is not coal or minerals, it is our human resources - the people who work in your industry.

Commented [GB2]: A bit erk

Their safety, above all else, is why we are here today.

I know, that all of you here this afternoon agree, that every family, every friend, must be absolutely confident, that all that is humanly possible, has and is being done to ensure that loved ones come home safely at the end of every shift.

But the time for talk is coming to an end.

It is time for action.

This Government's support for the resources industry is unquestionable but our goal today, your goal, is to ensure that it is safe for everyone.

Over the last few days, the Government has shown what it will do.

Two expert independent reviews are now underway.

The reviews will identify changes needed to improve health and safety in the state's mines and quarries.

Forensic structural engineer Dr Sean Brady is examining all fatal incidents in Queensland mines and quarries since 2000.

I have broadened this review beyond coal mining incidents to the end of 2018 to now include mineral mine and quarry incidents, and all fatal incidents this year.

The review will look at why mine workers have died over the past 20 years; how industry can improve and how the mines inspectorate can work better.

Separately, the University of Queensland is reviewing the state's mining health and safety legislation to ensure it is relevant to current and emerging mine practice and technology.

The UQ team will consult with industry, unions, mines inspectors and legal experts during the review.

Already these reviews have received your full support.

They will both be completed by the end of this year and will be tabled in Parliament.

Those reviews must be just the beginning.

I am also appointing three additional inspectors and restructuring the chief inspector role to be a dual role split between two people in order to be industry-specific to coal and mineral mines and quarries.

The industry itself, and all involved in it, must refocus.

And this is where it is up to you.

I would like to be able to leave this forum this afternoon, not just as the Mines Minister but as a doctor and a father, with the knowledge that you are taking real steps to prevent further incidents.

Commented [GB3]: Stronger than 'like'? We must make absolutely certain?

All companies have an obligation to provide a safe workplace for all employees that ensures workers get home to their families when the job is done.

It is up to you, as company directors or CEOs, the people who employ the men that work in your mines and quarries, to ensure that health and safety is the absolute priority.

Commented [GB4]: I reckon this should be further up

Already there has been a proposal that a state-wide 'safety reset' be held at all mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workforce.

I want to know that on the ground, equipment and environment are being inspected, that comprehensive and open safety discussions are occurring on-site, that all workers are being captured irrespective of shift arrangements.

I want to know that all of us in this room are doing the most that they can to ensure there is a 'no blame' culture of reporting on their sites.

This has the Government's full support.

If, and how, that is to take place is up to you.

Also, on the table today are reforms to strengthen safety culture in the resources sector.

This includes sanctions for reckless behaviour, such as introducing the offence of "industrial manslaughter", which exists in other industry sectors.

It is important, however, that these laws are harmonised to ensure workers are protected across all sectors.

Your industry is covered by some of the strongest health and safety legislation in the country. Recently, a custodial sentence was imposed in a case against MCG Quarries. This was the first of its kind under Mining Health and Safety Legislation in Queensland.

A specific offence of industrial manslaughter brings clarity to the expected duty of companies and senior managers within an organisation.

We have already increased maximum penalty units for serious offences and introduce civil penalties for companies that fail to meet their safety and health obligations.

Today, you are in the box seat.

If you feel your company can do more, speak-up.

If you feel your union can do more speak up.

If you feel the Government or the state's regulator can do more, now is the time to speak up.

Short-term and long-term solutions are needed.

The lives of the state's 49,000 mining and quarry workers are too valuable to risk.

Thank-you.

MINE SAFETY

The health and safety of our 49,000 mine and quarry workers is paramount for the Palaszczuk Government.

It is totally unacceptable that we have had six fatalities over the past 12 months.

Two independent reviews are already underway and due to report to Minister Lynham by the end of the year.

Today (Wednesday) industry and union leaders will gather at Parliament with the Minister to identify measures to improve safety on these workplaces.

I understand that one of the measures to be raised will be a statewide “safety reset” at mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workplace.

This is industry, unions and government working together to keep workers safe.

Two mining safety and health advisory committees will also meet later this week in the wake of the fatalities.

On membership of the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee:

Our government is committed to getting more women on boards but health and safety always comes first.

Background

- Media is expected to continue to report on mine safety issues and gender balance in the Coal Mining Safety Advisory Committee (CMSHAC).
- The members of CMSHAC have been advised that they will receive appointment letters ahead of their meeting this week.

Subject: Courier Mail - Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee inquiry

Hey guys,

I have a few questions about the Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee.

1. Given the committee is meeting again this week in the wake of the deaths, has it met its female quota? If so, when did it meet its target and who were the women who were placed onto the committee?

2. Why haven't any documents been uploaded to this site since February 2018?

<https://www.business.qld.gov.au/industries/mining-energy-water/resources/safety-health/mining/accidents-incidents/serious-accidents>

3. Who exactly will be attending the safety forum tomorrow? Does the Minister have a list of the companies who have registered their interest?

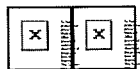

4. The Deputy Premier this morning said she was open to a 24hour stop work following suggestions by the CFMEU. Is the Minister also open to the idea?

My deadline is 4pm today.

Thank you,

Hi Dom

Pls attribute the below to the Min:

As I have said before, the health and safety of our mine and quarry workers is paramount and the current rate of fatal incidents is unacceptable.

As part of the comprehensive response to this, senior executives and representatives of mining companies, unions and peak bodies are being invited today to attend a safety forum tomorrow to decide their short-term and longer term actions to improve onsite safety.

One of the initiatives to be discussed by stakeholders at the forum is a safety reset and I will be guided by the views of forum attendees from industry and unions.

I continue to receive advice from the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee and the Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee. Membership of both is available online.

This is factual background only re website updates.

This information is now provided directly to industry executives and staff through other channels including:

- forums, seminars, and conferences
- safety alerts emailed directly to more than 1500 industry executives, managers and safety officers
- summaries and statistics on safety incidents in the annual Queensland Mines and Quarries Safety Performance and Health Report.

Felicity Caldwell, Brisbane Times

Statement by Dr Lynham

Around 70 people will gather at Parliament House tomorrow to identify immediate and longer-term measures to improve safety and health for the state's 49,000 mining and quarrying workers.

Senior executives of Queensland mining companies, mining unions, and the industry's peak body, the Queensland Resources Council, will join the state's independent Mines Safety and Health Commissioner, the Chief Inspector of Mines and me.

I will be looking to the forum to discuss and decide:

- operational details of a statewide "safety reset" at all mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workplace
- longer-term industry initiatives
- action required by the state's regulator or government.

This forum is an integral part of the tripartite response from industry, unions and government to the unacceptable rate of fatal incidents.

Allyson Horn

QUESTIONS

- When did committee last meet?
- When is it next going to meet?
- Why didn't it meet in June?
- Have there been any issues with not having enough women on the board?
- Who is currently on the committee (can I please have a list of the people?)
- With the meeting this week, is there a 50/50 gender split of people on the committee?
- Why did the Minister say the group was being re-established – if it was always operational?
- Why did the Minister say there were issues with gender representations, when asked about why the group wasn't meeting – if that wasn't the case?

PROPOSED RESPONSE

As I have said before, the health and safety of our mine and quarry workers is paramount and the current rate of fatal incidents is unacceptable.

Tomorrow senior executives of Queensland mining companies, mining unions, and the industry's peak body, the Queensland Resources Council, will join the state's independent Mines Safety and Health Commissioner, the Chief Inspector of Mines and me at a safety forum.

I will be looking to the forum to discuss and decide:

- operational details of a statewide "safety reset" at all mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workplace
- longer-term industry initiatives
- action required by the state's regulator or government.

I will be guided by the views of forum attendees as to the operational details of the statewide "safety reset".

This forum is an integral part of the tripartite response from industry, unions and government to the unacceptable rate of fatal incidents.

I continue to receive advice from the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee (CMSHAC) and the Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee.

CMSHAC is required by legislation to meet twice yearly and in the past financial year it has met in September, December and March, by teleconference in January, and will meet again this week.

The members decide their meeting schedule.

QUESTIONS

- When did committee last meet?
- When is it next going to meet?
- Why didn't it meet in June?
- Have there been any issues with not having enough women on the board?
- Who is currently on the committee (can I please have a list of the people?)
- With the meeting this week, is there a 50/50 gender split of people on the committee?
- Why did the Minister say the group was being re-established – if it was always operational?
- Why did the Minister says there were issues with gender representations, when asked about why the group wasn't meeting – if that wasn't the case?

PROPOSED RESPONSE

As I have said before, the health and safety of our mine and quarry workers is paramount and the current rate of fatal incidents is unacceptable.

Tomorrow senior executives of Queensland mining companies, mining unions, and the industry's peak body, the Queensland Resources Council, will join the state's independent Mines Safety and Health Commissioner, the Chief Inspector of Mines and me at a safety forum.

I will be looking to the forum to discuss and decide:

- operational details of a statewide "safety reset" at all mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workplace
- longer-term industry initiatives
- action required by the state's regulator or government.

I will be guided by the views of forum attendees as to the operational details of the statewide "safety reset".

This forum is an integral part of the tripartite response from industry, unions and government to the unacceptable rate of fatal incidents.

I continue to receive advice from the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee (CMSHAC) and the Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee.

CMSHAC is required by legislation to meet twice yearly and in the past financial year it has met in September, December and March, by teleconference in January, and will meet again this week.

The members decide their meeting schedule.

Statement by Dr Lynham

Around 70 people will gather at Parliament House tomorrow to identify immediate and longer-term measures to improve safety and health for the state's (how many) mining and quarrying workers.

Senior executives of Queensland mining companies, mining unions, and the industry's peak body, the Queensland Resources Council, will join the state's independent Mines Safety and Health Commissioner, the Chief Inspector of Mines and me.

I will be looking to the forum to discuss and decide:

- operational details of a statewide "safety reset" at all mines and quarries to refocus attention on safety in the workplace
- longer-term industry initiatives
- action requires by the state's regulator or government.

This forum is an integral part of the tripartite response from industry, unions and government to the unacceptable rate of fatal incidents.

Dear Premier

On 17 December 2018, in accordance with the Queensland Cabinet Handbook, I wrote advising you of the proposed appointments of members and substitute members to the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee (the Advisory Committee) under the Coal Mining Safety and Health Act 1999 (the Act).

Following advice from your office responding to my letter, I have canvassed stakeholder groups who nominated persons for membership to the Advisory Committee for revised nominations; however those groups were unable to provide further nominations.

Accordingly, in order to meet the requirement to appoint committee members under section 80 of the Act, I will proceed with the appointments of the original nominees to the Advisory Committee, namely:

- Mr Ian Cribb; Mr James Randell; Ms Bobbie Marie Foot; Mr Gregory Allan Dalliston; Mr Stephen Allan John Smyth; Mr Stephen Thomas Evetts and Mr Mark Stone as members; and
- Mr Peter Francis Baker; Ms Kylie Ah Wong; Mr Jason Lee Hill and Mr Jay Robert Denman as substitute members; for terms of three years.

If you have any questions, please contact Mr Simon Zanatta, Chief of Staff who will be pleased to assist you and can be contacted on telephone 3719 7360.

COMMUNICATION:

BACKGROUND:

11. The Committee is a tripartite committee established under Part 6 of the Act.
12. The primary function of the Committee is to give advice and make recommendations to the Minister about promoting and protecting the safety and health of persons at coal mines.
13. The Committee membership is constituted as follows:
 - the Chairperson who is the Commissioner for Mine Safety and Health
 - the chief inspector of coal mines
 - two other inspectors
 - three members plus two substitute members nominated by organisations representing coal mine operators
 - three members plus two substitute members nominated by industrial organisations representing coal mine workers.
14. Attachment 1 to the draft letter to the Premier provides membership details of the Committee including new, outgoing and remaining members.
15. Section 72 of the Act provides that members of the Committee are appointed by the Minister for a period of no more than three years.
16. The term of appointment of the Chairperson, Ms Kate du Preez, expires on 12 June 2019 and of an inspector member, Mr Shaun Dobson, expires on 22 May 2020.
17. The terms of appointment of all remaining members and substitute members expire on 20 December 2018.
18. Section 80 of the Act provides that the chief inspector is to be a member of the Committee and that the Minister must appoint two other inspectors to members of the Committee. Mr Stone is nominated for appointment as the second inspector member.
19. The organisations representing coal mine operators and industrial organisations representing coal mine workers were requested to provide panels of six or more nominees to you by 23 August 2018. The organisations were requested to consider gender diversity in determining a panel of nominees.
20. The Act provides that if the panel of names is not submitted to the Minister within the stated time, the Minister may appoint persons, the Minister considers appropriate. There are currently three coal mine operator representative member positions and two substitute coal mine operator representative positions to be filled.
21. QRC submitted a panel of five names within the prescribed time. All of the proposed coal mine operator representative appointments have been drawn from the panel of nominations submitted by QRC.

22. There are currently three coal mine worker representative member positions and two substitute coal mine worker representative positions to be filled.
23. The CFMEU and ETU submitted a joint panel of six nominees outside the prescribed time. All of the proposed coal mine worker representative appointments have been drawn from the panel of nominations submitted jointly by CFMEU and ETU.
24. Attachment 2 to the draft letter to the Premier contains curricula vitae provided by Mr Cribb, Mr Randell, Ms Foot, Mr Dalliston, Mr Smyth, Mr Evetts, Mr Baker, Ms Ah Wong, Mr Hill and Mr Denman.
25. Officers of the Department of Natural Resources, Mines and Energy (DNRME) investigated information on the nominees where available in the public domain. The search did not reveal anything that would exclude of the proposed appointees from appointment.
26. The Queensland Register of Lobbyists was consulted. None of the proposed nominees are listed on the Queensland Register of Lobbyists.
27. The government's gender balance target has not been achieved. The proposed appointments will however increase the female representation on the Committee from none to two.
28. When seeking nominations from coal mine operators and industrial organisations, as required under the Act, every attempt was made to encourage gender diversity in those nominations. Regrettably only the organisation representing coal mine operators was able to put forward female nominees, although they both wished that they were able to do so.
29. The organisations representing coal mine workers advised that their nominations are of elected executives. When elections for executive positions occur, any person who is a financial member has the ability to run for a position that is up for election. The organisations do not have control over who nominates themselves for those executive positions, and the subsequent membership vote.
30. DNRME is unable to nominate a female nominee as there are no qualified women currently fulfilling the role of coal mines inspector. This situation generally reflects the very low representation of women, both in senior coal mining safety and health roles and in the ranks of elected worker representatives in the industry.
31. The Office of Women within the Department of Child Safety, Youth and Women has been consulted in relation to the non-government vacancies on the Committee and note that the proposed appointments to the Committee do not meet the government's gender equality targets for women on government bodies.
32. The Office of Women recommended that DNRME consider reviewing the legislation and nomination requirements for the Committee, as it presents potential barriers to achieving gender diversity for the Committee. The Office of Women also recommended that DNRME should consider a shorter appointment period to create additional opportunities for women to be appointed by 2020.
33. Officers of DNRME and the office of the Commissioner for Mine Safety and Health are actively engaged with DNRME's Women on Boards project team and have established a recruitment action plan to address the barriers to meeting gender equity.
34. The recruitment action plan includes: identifying and engaging with a broader range of possible candidates that meet the criteria for appointment and recommending that the Minister request the tripartite partners (unions, industry and government) provide a documented strategy on the actions that they are taking to ensure potential female candidates are identified and put forward.
35. Committee members are not entitled to any remuneration other than the reimbursement of reasonable expenses and travel allowances.
36. Mr Dalliston is a member of the Board of Examiners and is eligible to receive a daily meeting fee of $500.
37. Mr Cribb, Mr Randell, Mr Smyth, Mr Evetts, Mr Baker, Mr Hill, Ms Foot, Mr Stone, Ms Ah Wong and Mr Denman do not hold positions on any other government bodies.
38. On receipt of the Premier's approval, letters to QRC and ETU and appointment letters to the new members will be prepared for you to sign.

Good afternoon

RE: Parliamentary Select committee to investigate Mining deaths.

Dear Premier

Over the past 12 months Queensland has seen a disturbing and unacceptable spike in workplace fatalities occurring in our mines and quarries.

Not since 1997 has Queensland seen the scale of mining related deaths in this state.

These deaths must not be in vain and Queenslanders must be able to learn serious lessons from these tragedies.

Queensland miners and their communities deserve answers as to what is happening in our mines and what has gone wrong to cause these accidents.

The Liberal National Party share the considerable concerns of many Queenslanders about mine safety and that is why it fully supports the establishment of a Parliamentary Select Committee into the effectiveness of the Queensland Government's mine safety regime.

This is not about blame. This is about getting our mine safety policies right, so lives are saved.

The inquiry needs to be public and we need to hear from every stakeholder, particularly industry, miners and their communities in regional Queensland.

Of concern too are reports of budget cuts to mine safety and the fact that important mine safety advisory committees were dissolved by your government due to not meeting gender representation quotas.

Attached is a copy of a suggested terms of reference for the Parliamentary Inquiry that we believe will provide the scope needed to get to the bottom of the concerns facing the industry.

I look forward to working constructively with you and your government to deliver this parliamentary inquiry on behalf of all Queenslanders.

Yours sincerely

Can I suggest that the committee be asked to consider the following:

- (a) resourcing and operations of the mine safety inspectorate, including the inspectors in regional Queensland.
- (b) review the legislative framework to ensure it is the most effective in the world to protect mine workers.
- (c) why did the Palaszczuk Government dissolve a Mining Safety Advisory Committee due to the Government's policy about gender representation and what impact this has had on Queensland mine safety.
- (d) the circumstances that have led to 6 fatalities in Queensland mines in the last 12 months.
- (e) the stories of regional Queenslanders employed in the coal mining industry and their views about the health and safety systems in Queensland.

Dr Anthony Lynham MP

Minister for Natural Resources, Mines and Energy

By email: nrm@ministerial.qld.gov.au

Dear Minister Lynham

Thank you for your correspondence dated 18th June in regard to the work of the Coal mining safety and health advisory committee, and your appreciation of the role and workload of the committee.

Your comment that "As you are aware, the appointments process for the advisory committee has met with some delays. I appreciate this has been frustrating", is the point of this correspondence.

The requirement for appointment, is at s80 and places a duty on the Minister;

80 Appointment of members

(1) The Minister must appoint 3 persons from each panel to be members of the committee

We have been verbally informed that the holdup in the appointment processes has been due to the 'women on committee' policy of the government. To date we have never been supplied with any written advice on this matter. One would expect if the any government committee or group has any objection to such appointments, they would be provided in writing. We believe that the unions have provided on numerous occasions the reason for no female members on the unions CSMHAC list provided to the Minister.

The BOE latest appointments which are nominally made for 4 year terms were only for 18 months and the BOE was given the explanation that it was because of no women put forward and when it was explained that less than 0.5% of Certificates of Competency (CofC) issued by the BOE are held by women, we were told that the requirements for selection and appointment would need to be changed. Again we were not supplied with a written reason or response. These hold ups of appointments may lead to the BOE not having a quorum and hence not able to issue C of C for statutory positions.

The fact that at least the last 3 appointment processes for both the CSMHAC and the Board of Examiners (BOE) appointments have been delayed on each occasion by 6 months or more, has on occasions led to these committee and Board not having a quorum as required by the Coal Mining Safety and Health Act at s86 and s189, to allow any decision making.

The Board of Examiners are appointed by the Governor in Council (s188 CSMHA), not by the Minister but the BOE still performs functions under the Minister area of responsibility.

I am writing to inform you that the CFMEU members and substitute member believe that this has been allowed to occur for too long and as such will not be attending "meetings" that are called as CSMHAC meetings until the appointments have been made.

We will continue to raise health and safety matters with the Inspectorate or with you as needed until the appointment process has been completed.

We apologise for any inconvenience that this may cause but we believe that it is time that the government put the safety and health of mine workers before some government policy group.

We hope that this matter can be resolved in a timely manner to get the real task of these committees moving forward again.

Yours on Safety

Good afternoon

Due to circumstances beyond the control of the Advisory Committee, it is necessary to postpone the scheduled advisory committee meeting for 26 June. I would like to thank everyone for their input into the discussion.

Once the advisory committee has further information, I will send out a request for potential meeting dates, possibly for the end of July or early August. I believe that this meeting needs to occur as soon as possible due to the importance of certain topics that are on the agenda including looking at regulation changes with regard to methane management.

Good Morning Stephanie

As discussed on Friday, please see my recommended letter from the Minister to CSMHAC. You will need to change the heading etc. as it is one the Commissioner letterhead. You might need to add more to paragraph 5 as you are more away of the process.

I have also attached the membership list with contact details.

Please let me know if I can help you further or if you would like me to send the letter out on your behalf.

Kind regards

Commissioner for
Mine Safety and Health

[Title] [Firstname] [Lastname]
[Address]

Dear

I am writing to thank you for your commitment to the coal mining industry through your membership of the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee. The advice I receive from the advisory committee is, and always will be, essential to the management of my portfolio responsibilities and has, without fail, been of the highest standard.

I am fully aware of the inconvenience and frustration involved for you in not being able to formally exercise approvals or other powers of the advisory committee. However, I can assure you I will continue to value and heed your advice on matters such as the effectiveness of the legislation; hazard management, including dust exceedances, recognised standards, airborne contaminants and other Safe Work Australia initiatives; as well as other safety and health issues and initiatives.

Your recent decision to continue meeting in the absence of formal appointments is truly appreciated. I would greatly appreciate it if you could continue these arrangements until the necessary appointments are made as it will help provide continuity of advice to me on important safety and health issues.

I understand the next scheduled meeting is to be held in Moranbah and, as well as your regular important business, the meeting is to include an opportunity to discuss safety and health issues with site safety and health representatives and other union representatives and senior site executives from across the Bowen Basin. I see this as an enormously important initiative and thank you for taking it. I sincerely hope that you include feedback from these meetings, together with your other regular updates, for my attention.

I can assure you I am doing everything I can to expedite the appointment of a new advisory committee and in the mean time that I continue to value and heed your advice. I would appreciate it if you could continue to meet in an informal and unofficial capacity until the appointment process runs its course.

Should you have any further enquiries, please contact [Title Firstname Surname, Position, Business Unit] of the department on telephone Include area code (07) only if recipient address is not in QLD #####. #####.

Yours sincerely

Subject: URGENT: Premier's endorsement - Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee

Morning

A letter to the Premier seeking endorsement of the proposed appointments to the Coal Mining Safety and Health Advisory Committee (CMSHAC) was submitted to DPC in December.

The department is requesting that this matter be treated with urgency.

Reasons for urgency:

The CMSHAC does not have a quorum as there is only 3 filled positions.

There is currently no body (committee) providing independent advice to the Minister on crucial safety issues, for example dust and methane issues.

The next meeting for CMSHAC is scheduled for 19/20 March.

As the Queensland Audit Office is undertaking an audit of the implementation of the Coal Workers' Pneumoconiosis Select Committee's recommendations, it was envisaged that the QAO and the Minister would be attending the March meeting.

An invitation has been sent to the Minister.

Following Premier's approval, the department then has to arrange for the Minister to approve the appointments.

Your assistance in this matter is greatly appreciated.

Thanks

Dear X

I am writing to you to convey my sincere thanks for your continued service to the Coal mining safety and health advisory committee and its important work supporting improved safety and health outcomes for our coal mine workers.

The advice I receive from the advisory committee is, and always will be, essential to the management of my portfolio responsibilities and has, without fail, been of the highest standard.

As you are aware, the appointments process for the advisory committee has met with some delays. I appreciate this has been frustrating.

Your recent decision to continue meeting in the absence of formal appointments is truly appreciated. I can assure you that the process to appoint members has had my full attention and I am confident of its resolution in the coming weeks.

I understand that the advisory committee is scheduled to gather in Moranbah next week for its 88th meeting - and the meeting is to include an opportunity to discuss safety and health issues with site safety and health representatives and other union representatives and senior site executives from across the Bowen Basin. I see this as an enormously important initiative and thank you for taking it.

I have asked the Commissioner for Mine Safety and Health to proceed with this meeting so as to ensure that your important work continues. The success of our tri-partite framework depends upon the expert advice that you, as a committee, provides to me as the responsible minister.

The advisory committee has driven many important reforms over the past several years, including new competencies for persons with safety and health obligations in the mining industry and of course support for the sector's response to mine dust lung disease.

Please be under no doubt that I value your experience and the commitment of you and your organisation's resources.

Yours sincerely

Thank you,

Steph
